

PLANTS ARE THE POINT OF OUR LIVES

We should all thank plants because they are the things that keep our life going, because if there were no plants in the world there would be no oxygen, and we all will just die in less than 5 minutes and we would all be extinct before we know it.

We give carbon dioxide and plants give us oxygen which is good for us and we give carbon dioxide to plants which is also good for the plants so it is a win for the people and plants. Did you know that cactuses can survive longer without water than normal plants and my guess is because they are desert plants and they store water in themselves. Did you know that plural for cactus is cacti? We have one picture of cacti.
